THE STORY

Once a salon for big names like Thomas Mann, Stefan Zweig, Somerset Maugham and Lady Churchill. Haus Hirt is today a salon, hotel and private home for free spirits who are looking for balance, enjoyment and like-minded people. A breathtakingly beautiful hideaway surrounded by greenery, far away from the ravages of time, and views from its summit as far as the eye can see.

With large rooms, charming nooks, and delightful spaces to stay and socialize, this hotel is also the perfect base for great outdoor activities like hiking, skiing, and snowboarding. There is a lot to discover in Bad Gastein and the surrounding area, and the hotel provides its own guide to help guests with excursions. Although it's a year-round destination, a winter stay at the Haus Hirt will prove to be a very relaxing ski holiday.

The hosts Evelyn and Ike Ikrath exude contagious enthusiasm and inspire guests to recharge and simply unwind, with or without family in tow. The cuisine at the restaurant is laid back and best described as Austrian Alpine with dishes that may well distract from the breathtaking view from the dining room. A safe haven for body and soul.
